

Receive devices and the account information from Vaisala

Log into jade.vaisala.com

Devices are already added to your account

Time to do the site installation

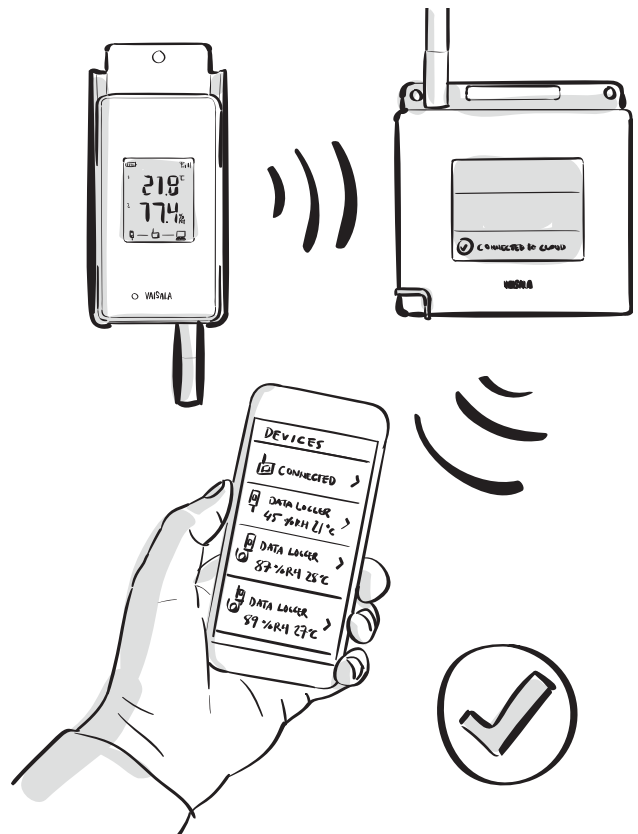

Install the access point requiring mains power and ethernet, or optionally a cellular modem

Install the data loggers

Link the source data logger to a measurement location in the application

Connection status is visible in the data loggers, the access points and in the application

